

Logic will get you from A to B.
Imagination will take you anywhere.

- Albert Einstein

About us

Oliver Wyman is a leading global management consultancy. With offices around the globe, we have the reach to meet our clients' needs anywhere in the world.

What we offer

New consultants join the firm's financial services practice from day one, working on strategy and management challenges for clients in the financial sector, including retail banking, investment banking, trading, insurance, asset management and risk. We are a true meritocracy and there are no artificial barriers to success. New consultants are given real client facing work from the outset and are considered key members of a project team. Their input is valued and expected from day one.

What we are looking for

We are seeking candidates who are inquisitive, motivated, and have strong analytical and quantitative skills. Clarity of thought and expression are fundamental, together with a down-to-earth personable manner. Fluency in a second language is highly desirable but not essential. An interest in international travel is a must, as our staffing model will take you to many exciting locations around the world. We encourage a strong entrepreneurial spirit at Oliver Wyman and are looking for people who can help us develop the business into new areas.

We currently have entry level opportunities in: Stockholm, London, Dubai, Frankfurt, Madrid, Milan, Munich, Paris and Zurich.

We welcome full-time applications from both Bachelor and Master students.

Application deadline: 10 October 2010

Apply online at www.oliverwyman.com/careers